

MEET THE COMMITTEE: EMMA HERD

Emma works as a landscape architect, horticultural specialist, and creates horticultural products as part of her business called Little Green Landscapes. She also works for Andrea Proctor Landscapes, designing all sorts of landscape projects, including designs within various botanic gardens. Emma initially studied Horticulture at the University of Melbourne's Burnley Campus, working in many areas of the horticultural industry. She went on to study landscape architecture at RMIT University. You might have heard her on 3CR's gardening program, where she (also!) volunteers frequently.

Emma is the EWHA President and, apart from all her professional experience, brings her enthusiasm, drive, and compassion to the committee. If you would like to talk to Emma about the future of EWHA please feel free to reach out.
